ganizations; Tents To Be Provided for Class Headquarters.

By MYRTLE JENSEN

Home coming at the Brigham Young University, which has a special feature of commencement week promises to be the largest and best gathering of its kind ever held by the alumni association of the college. Thousands of old students and graduates of the school will return to view acquaintances and participate in the celebration.

On Thursday, June 7th, the day will be marked by the alumni tent encampment. A class from 1890 up to the present will be provided with a number of such tents. It is planned that Thursday morning the members of the class will come in, dress in place. No class will be certain the visitors with a hand concert, which will take place in the afternoon. The tents will be erected in the front of the Education building.

Following the tent encampment, a well organized program of sports, social and athletic events, and a general reunion of all class members of the school alumni will take place. No class will be excluded from participating in the program, which should prove to be one of the leading features of this alumni reunion. An open all dance for the short time following the program will bring to a close the first day of the reunion.

The second day will be marked by the annual formal dinner held at the alumni hall in the evening. According to Dr. H. M. Woodworth, chairman of the committee, the alumni tent encampment, every plan and feature of the reunion will be complete to have every function carried off to a systematic and orderly way, and so effect to bring about to make this a banner home coming in the history of the institution.

Every effort has been, and is being made, to get as invitation to every student of the school. Everything that could aid to their enjoyment and pleasure will be given.

TO STAGE FINAL PLAY OF YEAR NEXT MONDAY

After producing "Rollo's Wild Out" of the high schools of Rich, Rich, and Provo the cast and managers have decided to give the play in College Hall next Monday evening at 8:00 p. m.

It is thought that after this number of productions, nothing but a most excellent production will be given.

To make it possible that every student of the school will have a chance to see the play, the cast and managers have decided to give the play in College Hall next Monday evening at 8:00 p. m.

The play was given Thursday night at the grand opening of the new Provo High School auditorium. The play was staged most successfully by a small but appreciative audience.

The well equipped new stage and the excellent audience, were a joy to play in and the play was given by the cast and managers.

Richards Advises Concerning School

Elder Stephen L. Richards gave the text of a series of lectures, entitled "Education and Social Problems," last Wednesday in student body assembly. The lecture was entitled "Education and Application." Apostle Richards is patron of the school and is a member of the Church School Committee of Education.

"Practical education is a much talked about subject," he began, "and it is by having many people are discussing the advisability of preparing for a liberal education. Every one is discussing the impracticality of the various forms of education, as in producing people who are poorly equipped for the practical work of life."

"If we are to make better lives for ourselves, should not be measured in dollars and cents. Whenever we consider any important measure in our life, we always say, 'Will it pay?' By this we mean will it pay in economic value? Of course a man who is unsuccessful in getting proper comforts in life, is handicapped, and perhaps will fall short of his ambitions and aspirations."

"We should know the art of making money, money should know the art of spending and saving. The art of spending one's money is as necessary as the art of making it. There is about it one motto that I can always give, to save people from lack and, then, I say, 'Spend less than you earn.'"

"Education is economic stability," continued Apostle Richards, "one should be righteous. We should develop the faculties that God has given us. Education means to develop and cultivate the faculties that men and women possess. It is through these faculties that we attain success. Education gives us the power to do something that they haven't, but it brings out in the student the things they have had before."

"We must have the power of intellectual exercise of the senses God has given to us. To gain them we must think, and apply. Education should be of a practical kind that would fit us for life, for life is the object of education."

"We need to prepare ourselves for the future, except under three conditions: personal inability, specific lack of time, and lack of money. Education should be a practical kind that would fit us for life, for life is the object of education."

Apostle Richards then discussed some of the purposes of education. Education is not merely to make a living, however, statistics show that professions are over crowded with mediocre people. In Utah at the present time there is one lawyer to every eight hundred and fifty people. The average net earning in this state is less than one thousand dollars a year that few are above the average."

"Education gives a proper foundation to our lives. When you begin to specialize you yourself in every possible way for what you intend to do."

"Good education is that which develops our vision, and enlarges our outlook. It is a refining process, especially the culture of good art and music."

"Education becomes imperative in the whole structure of man. We have an innate love for it. It has been the characteristic that comes everywhere. It is invaluable in animal desires. Every Latter Day Saint student should diligently inquire, for we do not say, 'The Glory of God is Intelligence?'"

"Control College Credits are completing a winter course of football lectures under the director of athletics to familiarize themselves with the game so that they may not overrule. The students should diligently inquire, for we do not say, 'The Glory of God is Intelligence?'"

The University of Vermont claims the distinction of having the oldest graduates in America. George Babby-Rice, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, He was graduated in 1845 and is now hundred and thirty years of age.

The Press Club of the University of California is holding a song contest, its aim being to secure a representative University song. Prizes of five and ten dollars will be awarded to the writers of the two best songs.

The intercollegiate debate between the University of Maine and Boston College was transmitted by radio to Maine students.

If the appropriation now before the State Legislature is passed M. A. C. will soon have a new and complete hospital. A sum of $75,000 is which is planned to build a hospital that will care for more than fifty persons.
